Project Documentation Phase

The project documentation includes the project title, objective, problem statement, tools and technologies, feature descriptions, implementation overview, screenshots, testing notes, and instructions for running the application. The GitHub repository and demo link are included where required.